So the Friday night club night was something special this month.

Firstly, we had a double TOTY (due to the lack of a club night last month).

And secondly, it was a celebration of our club gaining charity status.

There was an assortment of savoury foodstuffs (including the traditional pasties).

How blessed are we, to have such a chairman to lead our journey from our current shed and into our new bastion!

A special cake celebrating the occasion was baked by Vicky and looking tremendous, I obviously photographed it for the newsletter.

Our chairman noticed this and commented that I would probably be posting his face into the balloon.

Truth be told, I hadn't really thought about that, but so as not to disappoint!

After a considerable amount of banter, our chairman cut the cake, and we all had a slice - very nice it was too!

You people who do not attend the club nights REALLY are missing out!

Club Nights.

This months presentation was by Pete Stubbs on the German Shepherd dog breed and it's use in the UK Police.

Today's talk was by me. Assisted by Roxy, my current pet GSD.

So following this latest trend of club night talk presentations on subjects that have nothing to do with woodturning, I volunteered to present a talk about something very near to my heart the German Shepherd Dog.

The presentation covered the entire history of the breed including its use in British policing.

DEMO DAYS.

Next demo day on Sat 16th November 2024
with Paul Hannaby.

CAN 100 CLUB

The 100 Club Winners for September were:

- 1st - Brian Hobbs (£129)
- 2nd - Brian Hobbs (£53.75)
- 3rd - Robert Brightley (£32.25)

Now we all know that realistically, this is because Brian has more tickets than anyone else. But that still wouldn't stop people like me making fun of him and shouting 'FIX'!

However, it has since come to my knowledge that all the winnings received by Brian have been put straight back into the pot and contribute to our charity fund.

So I guess I will need to wind my neck in and instead of shouting 'FIX'

I am shouting
'WELL DONE BRIAN'

It has been commented that people cannot get into the members area as it is password protected.

Yes, that is to stop non-members getting in there!

the password (as published in the last 3 newsletters) is whealjane

It has also been commented that the few who have tried to use the forum, that to even just to respond to posts. They are being blocked until they join as a member,

This is not my idea, it is a security measure written into the software.

There is no way around this but then, as I wrote several newsletters ago:

This is a one time joining form where you need to submit your email address, These addresses are stored on the site and can only be accessed by me, but once completed will unlock the forum to you.

At the end of the day, unlike other sites, at least you know that you wont be getting spammed by giving your details!

Competition Time

What is it?

£10 prize!

The response to our prize competition has been greeted with the usual levels of enthusiasm by the members, as I received a grand total of TWO emails!

Both emails had the correct answer and so the winner, being the first to respond, was Ann-Marie Jagers.

Congratulations to her and a £10 coupon for the shop has been sent to her commiserations to the other correct answer from Jan O'Neil, whose email arrived in my inbox a few hours later.

Needless to say,- The trial of a monthly run competition failed miserably and will NOT be run again.

The answer for anyone who may care:

It was a WW1 Military Campaign English Boot Pull with button hook
Boot pull featuring a tunic button hook.

I'm not doing anymore!

So, there was even less enthusiasm here than those enthusiastic enough to join in with our fun competition!

As I received just two less contributions for this.

CLASSIFIED ADS

As advertised in the last newsletter:
Jan O'Neil has a friend called Matt Jenkin, who runs a business called
Force 10 Powertools.
(<https://force10powertools.co.uk/>)

Jan writes that Matt is very good at power tool repairs and has been exceptionally good at fixing her tools over the years which have made them last for over a decade.

However, not only is he a good contact for fixing tools, he currently has

LARGE amounts of wood for sale!

These woods include the following;

- Oak
- Spalted Ash
- Cedar
- Holm oak
- Chestnut
- Beech and
- Macrocarpa.

In some cases full tree trunks!!

He is located at Goonhilland, Burnthouse, St Gluvias, TR10 9AS.

He can be contacted on 07855 015550

Or you can email him at matt@force10powertools.co.uk

*'Turning' Towards Charity:
Chairman's Update on the club's new premises quest.*

NEW PREMISES UPDATE 4.

STRATEGY PROGRESS

- Changing structure of club from an association to a charity:
Charity Commission accepted our submission.
- Appointment of professional fund raiser:
Done , starting work on responding to list of information requirements.
- Development of AWPIG subcommittee into task led groups to include:
- Progress understandings with Wheal Jane:
New location offered. Investigations into soil issues, dealing with Bats and other issues underway.
- Establish budgetary envelope and timeline targets:
Revised concept design agreed. Budget costing near completion, Looks like we will need about £150,000.
Outline timeline established showing about 18-month programme
- Gather information about membership:
E-mail sent to membership / some responses received

Amongst other tasks!!

BUY 5 RAFFLE TICKETS (OR MORE)
BUY A 100 CLUB TICKET (OR MORE)
DONATE A RAFFLE PRIZE

AWPIGS TASK LIST

- Membership background task:

How many members are ex-service men, police, NHS etc., is an important factor in fund raising. This increases the number of support charities we can approach.

In progress

- Planning building task:

The development of an appropriate building design is essential to ensure appropriately sized new premises are provided.

This may also involve preparing planning submissions.

Concept design completed. Site location agreed. Meeting with Architect on site tomorrow. Structural Engineer meeting on Wednesday.

- Cost planning task:

The development of an encompassing budget plan is essential.

We need to include cost of "free" labour for internal fitting out of the building, along with interior material costs.

John Nock completed initial costings. Some holes need to be estimated.

- In-house fund-raising task:

Creating a diary of fundraising events for internal and external fund raising

Need to discuss and agree

- Support to professional fund raiser task:

Responding to and supporting the efforts of the professional fund raiser by providing necessary data or documentation as submission may require.

Work started on creating documents

- Accounting record task:

Keeping appropriate financial records as to funds and grants raised.

Chris task

- Club change of constitution task:

Completing all necessary task to register the club as a charity

Status approved

- Membership progress updating task:

Ensuring members are aware of progress and needs for further support

In progress each club night and via newsletter

The Gala night culminated in the auction of a set of carving chisels, very kindly donated by John Bray (all profits going to our charity funds).

What am I bid for these chisels?
£10 maybe?

I don't even like carving chisels.
Brian made me do
this pose!

For God's sake,
somebody bid!
These are starting to get heavy!

Congratulations to the winning bidder - Terry Edwards,
Another £45 into the charity fund
